The applications for artificial intelligence in today's world are limited only by the imagination. Quality control, medical diagnosis, investment strategies — even cyber security — are among the many fields experimenting with the technology. But, how much do we really know about the risks and rewards of AI? ACG Orange County brings together experts who will tackle those issues and more during a stimulating luncheon panel discussion. Your ticket also includes a sandwich and lunch salad — or, as we like to say, food for thought. Join us!
