

Wolfgang Tsoutsouris
Managing Director, MAST Advisors

Wolfgang Tsoutsouris is Managing Director at MAST Advisors, a middle-market corporate advisory firm focusing on M&A, Capital Raising and Strategic Planning. He is also a Lead Coach at Law Firm Mentor, where he coaches dozens of small law firms on all matters of business management, including finance, hiring, systems/processes and marketing.

Prior to joining MAST Advisors, Wolfgang worked at a major accounting firm and a boutique corporate finance advisory group on projects including debt financings, corporate restructurings, crisis management and strategy assignments focused on growth, performance and profit optimization.

Wolfgang began his finance career as an Analyst with the Blackstone Group, where he focused on strategies and hedge funds trading in commodities.

In addition to his work in finance, Wolfgang was also Director of Operations for a digital marketing start-up, managing all operational aspects including budgeting, hiring, process improvement, client and vendor management, and acquisitions.

Wolfgang is also the Founder of DirtyJerzBBQ, bringing to market a BBQ sauce that has half the calories and 10x the flavor of typical store-bought sauces!

Before transitioning to a career in business/finance, Wolfgang spent 14 years as a professional violinist, performing on many Broadway productions and with numerous orchestras and chamber ensembles in New York City and throughout the Northeast.

Wolfgang's educational background includes an MBA from Baruch College, graduate work in violin performance at Brigham Young University and The Juilliard School, and a Bachelors in Music from Northwestern University with a major in violin performance.
