

Tom Bergeron
Editor and Chief Content Officer
ROI-NJ

Tom Bergeron has worked in journalism for more than two decades. He currently is the editor in chief of ROI-NJ, a print publication and web site he co-founded last fall. Prior to that, Tom served as the editor of NJBIZ, a manager editor for sports at Yahoo.com and the sports editor at The Star-Ledger. When he's not working, he's spending time with his wife and five kids, usually at an athletic event. Tom has coached more than 100 youth sports teams and served as the president of his town's Little League for five years. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia.